Person Notes:

Antoinette was born September 27 1887 to Theodore and Antoinette Mohrstead Wuthenow. She is listed in the City of St. Louis birth records and the place of birth was 900 Old Manchester Road in St. Louis, the family home, Theodore ran a successful grocery and the family led a comfortable life. Antoinette had a number of sister and brothers, several of whom died while they were young. The 1900 census list her as attending school and that she could read and write. One of her jobs was as an early telephone operator. She was raised at 4339 McRee Ave.

Antoinette told of Ralph Appel courting her in Shaw's Garden which at the time was much larger and reached close to her home. The house is still standing north of highway 44 in St. Louis. They were married May 18, 1912. Two sons were born to this couple, Ralph Martin in 1913 and Theodore Koefed Appel in 1914. The children middle names Martin and Koefed were from their father's maternal grandfather Martin Koefed. The 1920 Census has them living on Taylor Avenue and Antoinette sister Olga Campbell and her husband and daughter are living with them.

After she married Ralph Apple they also live an upper Comfortable life for many years while the oil company was doing well. They had a nice home at 3007 North Taylor and it was here they raised the two boys. The 1930 census list the home value at 3600 and notes that they owned a radio set. At some point thee was a large explosion involving the oil company and the couple spent all of their resources paying for it. For a few years live in various flats around the city ( see RMA file for exact details) After his death she spent much of the remainder of her life living with her two sons at various times.

According to Judi Appel, Grandmother told her the oil company did not fail but there was a large explosion which caused much damage. They went broke trying to pay for the damage.

Following the death of her husband in 1949, Antoinette lived one of her sons, often alternating six months at each home. While living at son Ralphs she would often, after receiving her social security check, walk the mile to downtown Ferguson to do her shopping. She often bought treats for her grandchildren.

Antoinette died November 7th 1975 after a short illness at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. She was buried at Memorial Park, St. Louis County Missouri
